DEATH COMES TO E. H. RICKARD AT HIS HOME SUNDAY

Well Known Merchant and Bank Director Passed Away

Emanuel H. Rickard, who for a number of years has conducted a business on Galena avenue, prominent in lodge circles locally and a director of the Dixon National bank, passed away Sunday afternoon at his home, 115 West Morgan street. He had been in failing health for several weeks.

Mr. Rickard was born in Medina county, Ohio, Nov. 14, 1857, where he remained until he had grown to manhood. He came west to Illinois in 1880 and was united in marriage to Anna E. Williams in Jordan township, Whiteside county, on September 28, 1882. They began farming near Prairieville where they resided until 1893 when they retired and came to Dixon to reside in the home which they had built at 115 West Morgan street.

Engaged in Business
For several years Mr. Rickard engaged in the grain and stock business in this city. In 1900 he purchased the Oscar Ayres harness business at 120 Galena avenue, the present Rickard building, where he continued the business until 1924 when it was changed to a luggage and haberdashery store. He continued in this business until his passing. Mr. Rickard was one of a family of nine children and is survived by his widow, Anna E. Rickard, one son Clark of this city and a grandson, Elwood Rickard.

He was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Dixon lodge, No. 779, B. P. O. Elks, all of the Masonic bodies, the Freeport Consistory and Tebal Temple of Rockford. He had been very active in Masonic circles and was numbered among the few thirty-second degree Masons of Dixon and vicinity.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 from the family residence and at 2 o'clock at the Brynton Memorial Masonic temple, where Dixon Commandery No. 21, Knights Templar will have charge of the services. Interment will be in the Palmyra cemetery.

Abnormal Thymus Gland is Cause of Young Ward's Death

Herbert Shinneman, 14-year-old epileptic patient at the Dixon state hospital, died suddenly Saturday afternoon at 2:10 at the institution under conditions which members of the medical staff at the institution were unable to determine. The body had been stricken with an epileptic seizure in the dining hall at the noon hour and apparently had recovered from this. Another condition developed and he was removed to the hospital ward where he died.

An autopsy was conducted which revealed a thymus gland, approximately four times the normal size to which was attributed the cause of death at the inquest conducted at the Staples mortuary this morning by coroner Frank M. Banker of Franklin Grove. The boy was committed to the Dixon state hospital from Chicago, February 21, 1929, for treatment for epilepsy. Funeral services were conducted this morning at 11 o'clock from the Staples chapel with interment at the institution burial ground.

Furniture Makers in Two Cities Walk Out

Naperville, Ill., March 12—(AP)—Furniture makers of the Kroehler Manufacturing Company at Naperville and Kankakee, Ill., were virtually shut down today by a strike of 1,100 of its 1,200 employees.

The walkout was peaceful, pickets patrolled the grounds without disturbance and carried no placards. The upholsterers and mill workers demanded wage increases ranging from 47 to 91 per cent and asked a change from piece work basis to a straight time basis.

The present base rate for piece work is 34 cents an hour, but Peter E. Kroehler, president, said the pay runs to 75 cents an hour and more. The union leaders asked an assurance of 75 cents minimum, on a time basis.

California Prison Break is Frustrated

San Quentin Prison, Cal., March 12—(AP)—Using home-made guns three desperate convicts attempted a daring escape from the prison here today but were frustrated by guards after many shots had been fired and one prisoner killed.

The attempted escape was led by William Bagley and Lewis H. Downs were the others seeking to scale the walls.

A prisoner, John Robert Arbuckle, 20, San Bernardino, was accidentally slain when McNabb's gun went off.

FEAR 150, CREW OF JAP WARSHIP LOST IN MISHAP

Heavily Armed Torpedo Boat Mysteriously Wrecked

Tokyo, March 12—(AP)—Japan's newest scorpion of the seas, the Tomozuru, a torpedo boat with an armament greater than most ships twice her size, was wrecked mysteriously today with the probable loss of 120 men.

The Navy declined to describe the disaster immediately, but it was almost certain that the Tomozuru had capsized off the Sasebo naval base in heavy weather.

The Ministry announced the ship had been found, after being missing since early morning, "badly damaged and drifting, many of her crew believed drowned."

The vessel, of 527 tons, was regarded as carrying one of the heaviest armaments ever conceived for a ship of her size.

The navy office said "rescue efforts are proceeding," but made no mention of any survivors. Contact with the Tomozuru was lost early today.

Hull Will Address Associated Press

New York, March 12—(AP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull will be the speaker at the formal luncheon April 23 in connection with the annual meeting of members of The Associated Press in New York. Several hundred members gathered in New York each year for this annual event over which Frank B. Noyes, president of The Associated Press and publisher of the Washington, D. C., Star, presides.

PAPERS ACCEPT CODE
St. Louis, Mo., March 12—(AP)—The St. Louis Newspaper Publishers' Association announced today that the three daily papers here had accepted the newspaper publishers' code and effective immediately would place reporters and writers on a five-day, 40-hour week. Papers concerned are the Post-Dispatch, Globe-Democrat and Star-Times.

Utah, Wyoming, Idaho Shaken by Series of Earth Tremors During Morning Hours Today

Logan, Utah, March 12—(AP)—The earthquake which rumbled through northern Utah and southern Idaho shortly after 9 A. M. today split the walls of the home economics building at the Utah State Agricultural College here and officials of the school said the structure will be abandoned.

Salt Lake City, March 12—(AP)—An earth shock that moved office buildings, stopped clocks and cracked windows in this city, was felt this morning over northern Utah, southwestern Wyoming and southern Idaho.

Office-bound residents stopped in Salt Lake City streets to watch the buildings sway. Householders reported swinging chandeliers, rattling furniture and clattering dishes.

A cloud of dust arose as the Ezra Thompson building and the Tribune building adjoining it, rubbed walls in the Continental Bank building two windows were cracked, and cracks appeared in the piers of the Cliff building, another tall office structure.

A status atop the spire of the city and county building was knocked out of plumb.

The first shock was felt at 9:05 A. M. (CST), followed by a much heavier one. Another slight shock was reported at 9:32 A. M.

Earth shocks were felt here in January, 1931, and in November and December, 1932, but no damage was done.

Another sharp earthquake shook this city at 12:15 P. M. CST.

Chicago American Today Published Sensational Story

Chicago, March 12—(AP)—The Evening American, in a copyrighted story, today asserted that Moe Rosenberg, Democratic boss of Chicago's 24th ward, before his death last January, had made a statement to the United States government of how he split an enormous income with Chicago, Cook county and Illinois politicians.

The statement, said to have been made at an income tax fraud hearing in Washington last December 27, told of contributions of approximately $500,000 to politicians and office holders, most of them Democrats.

His sole income, Rosenberg said in a sworn statement, was from the Rosenberg Iron & Metal Company, a junk concern. Its whole business, he said, was with public utility corporations. The policy, he said, was to buy the junk from the utilities companies at an absurdly low price and sell it at a huge profit.

Named Cernak
One of the largest recipients of his dole, Rosenberg swore was the late Mayor Anton J. Cernak of Chicago. The total of the sums given Cernak was $95,000, he said.

Some of those that Rosenberg swore he made donations to included: Joseph B. McDonough, County Treasurer, $60,000.

State Representatives Frank Ryan, John Bolton, John R. McSweeney, John R. Hruby and Roy O'Keefe, $2,500 each.

John J. O'Brien, identified by Rosenberg as a state Representative, $2,500.

State Senator R. V. Graham, son-in-law of Mayor Cernak, $2,500.

State Representative Anthony Pintozzi, $1,000.

HELED ALDERMAN
Rosenberg said he gave $5,000 each to seventeen aldermanic candidates prior to the aldermanic election in February, 1929.

In his sworn statements, Rosenberg said he was acting for the interests of the Insull utility companies, the telephone company and the traction companies. He said the more he helped the utilities, the more profits would increase and the more he could distribute to politicians and office holders.

Rosenberg said he got 90 per cent of all the utility junk business in Cook county and all the junk business from the Illinois Bell Telephone Company in the state of Illinois.

The junk dealer's story to the investigators was that he got the business by going to see Samuel Insull himself and "talking turkey."

Whenever a bill unfavorable to the utility interests came up at Springfield, Mo. related, he would visit his strong boxes in the loop, take something down to the Capital and the bill would die a natural death.

Dwight H. Green, U. S. District Attorney, refused to discuss the reported confession. To give out such information, he said was against the law. However, he would not deny the high points of the confession.

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings announced at Washington he would begin an investigation to determine how the statement became public.

SKIES EMPTY OF ARMY'S AIR MAIL SHIPS FOR TIME

Planes Ordered Grounded Three Weeks After Taking Over Mail

Washington, March 12—(AP)—Senator McAdoo (D-Calif.) today introduced a bill authorizing the Postmaster General to make contracts immediately with private operators to carry the air mail for 90 days.

Companies holding contracts prior to the general cancellation Feb. 9, would not be barred from the proposed temporary service.

The temporary contracts would be on terms decided by the Postmaster General with the approval of the President.

The proposal was described as being made "in order to meet the existing emergency and in order to afford sufficient time for necessary and proper legislation to be enacted."

Washington, March 12—(AP)—The sky was empty of planes flying the mails today, just three weeks after the Army took over the job.

The order grounding the planes made no mention of the ten deaths that have occurred since President Roosevelt cancelled the private subsidies and turned the airmails over to the Army, but it followed within a day of the President's statement that deaths in flying the mails "must stop."

Major-General Benjamin Foullos, Chief of the Air Corps, directed the order to all airmail zones, calling upon them to:

"Suspend immediately all carrying of the airmail until your personnel and equipment are in position and ready to initiate the schedules furnished you in radio-gram."

The order specified that no airmail flying should be undertaken until authorized by headquarters of the Air Corps.

What effect the cancellation of all airmail service, even though temporary, would have on American business which has come to rely upon the swifter means of mailing was a moot question.

Postal officials promptly notified by airmail zone commanders of the changed situation struggled to give the fastest possible train routings to stacks of mail shunted back to them by Sunday's order.

The interruption of service is not expected to last for more than two or three days. Major-General Foullos hoped to have a modified "fair-weather" schedule ready by Wednesday.

The Air Corps chief believes a revised airmail map, with planes and men to fly it, will be in shape by midweek, with the 18 routes which were being flown until today being reduced to about a dozen.

The coast-to-coast "backbone" of the airmail will be preserved in the new setup.

ASK FOR WRIT AGAINST DIXON AIRPORT SEWER

A. L. Barlow and Son Implore Court for an Injunction

Abner L. Barlow and son Edwin W. Barlow, through their attorney, W. H. Winn, have filed a suit in the Circuit Court against the City of Dixon, Dement Schuler and Dwight Rolph, seeking a permanent order restraining the defendants from draining sewage water onto the land which are owned and controlled by the plaintiffs. The bill sets forth that the drainage of the sewage onto the Barlow land is detrimental to the health of the plaintiffs, their cattle and those persons using milk from the cattle.

The bill alleges that the airport field is separated from the land owned by the plaintiffs by the Lincoln Highway and that the water course runs from south to north, which would drain surface waters from the airport to the Barlow property. It is further contended that a public grill or "house of entertainment, at which the public is expected to congregate for eating and drinking and other purposes," has been constructed on the airport field. A large amount of sewage will be discharged through a system now under construction under the direction of Dwight Rolph, the bill charges. Included in the disposal system is a septic tank with an outlet near the culvert between the lands, it is stated.

Charges that the sewage will not be purified but will be harmful and poisonous in nature, rendering the water unfit for cattle and other livestock, are also included. A temporary injunction is sought until a permanent restraining order can be issued by the court, pending a hearing at the April term.

This afternoon Judge Manus in Circuit court denied temporary injunction, set the hearing on the petition for next Monday afternoon and gave the defendants until Thursday to file their answer.

O. D. Sweetman Died at Daughter's Home in Chicago at 4 A. M.

Osmen D. Sweetman, for many years a resident of Dixon, who celebrated his eightieth birthday on January 24, passed away at 4 o'clock this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Walker, at North Chicago.

For the past five years he had made his home in and near Chicago. The remains will be brought to Dixon and funeral services will be conducted from the Christian church Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, the pastor, Rev. James Barnett, officiating and with interment in Oakwood.

Mr. Sweetman is survived by his widow; four daughters, Mrs. Glen Pelton and Mrs. Charles Black of this city, Mrs. Margaret Walker of Chicago, Mrs. Pearl Smith of Washington, D. C.; two sons, Walter of Park Ridge and Charles of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, and several grandchildren and more distant relatives and a host of friends.

The two-story frame residence valued at $4000 was partially covered by insurance. All the contents of value were saved.

Robbers Get $21,000 From Two Atchison, Kansas Banks Today

Atchison, Kas., March 12—(AP)—Four machine gun bandits robbed the Exchange National and Exchange State banks of approximately $21,000 here today, shot and wounded Chief of Police Willard Linville and fled with nine bank employees as hostages. All were released later.

Ed Iverson, cashier of the Exchange State bank, was beaten on the head during the holdup and fell from the robbers' car as it sped out of the city. He suffered a fractured skull.

The two banks, associate institutions, are located in the same building.

Miss Addie Matlock, Miss Mary Low and George Wolf, assistant cashier of the Exchange National bank, were the last of the hostages freed. They were released 4 1/2 miles south of Atchison.

Slayer of 15-Year-Old Boy Goes to Death With Hymn on Lips After Full Confession; Said No One Helped Him

Columbia, S. C., March 12—(AP)—Robert H. Wiles was electrocuted just before dawn today at the state penitentiary here for kidnapping and killing Hubbard H. Harris, Columbia school boy.

The 40-year-old mechanic went to his death with a hymn on his lips after making a full confession and taking sole responsibility for the crime.

"I am guilty," he said. "I did it and I am ready to pay for it. No one else was in it at all."

Wiles walked boldly into the electrocution room, greeting officers and witnesses with a cheery "Good morning, gentlemen."

He made his confession, said he was ready to go, and as the headpiece was adjusted started singing "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

The death current cut short his song. Wiles was pronounced dead at 5:06 A. M. CST, four minutes after the first shock.

The Harris youth was lured away from his home and hammered to death with an iron bar on his 15th birthday, two days before last Christmas.

Wiles said he intended to extort a $1,000 ransom from the boy's father, a grocery chain executive but his plans were upset and he killed Hubbard in an old farmhouse near the city.

IS BELIEVED IN OHIO BOUND FOR PRISON AT LIMA

Pal Who Killed Sheriff Is Held There Awaiting Death in Chair

Toledo, O., March 12—(AP)—All police radio scout cars in Toledo were ordered today to search for a small sedan between here and Lima, O., in the belief that one of its occupants might possibly be John Dillinger.

Police were informed by a man who refused to give his name, but who said he knew Dillinger when he lived in Lepsie, Ohio. An order was given on the police radio for all scout cars to take up the search.

Reports from Lima said that Brig.-Gen. Harold M. Bush had been advised of reports that unnamed persons had seen the sedan and identified one of its occupants as Dillinger.

The General was told that the reported sighting of Dillinger had been reported to John Louy of the Toledo police identification department.

HEAVY GUARD AT JAIL

Lima, O., March 12—(AP)—National Guardsmen trained machine guns on the county jail today and hurried an open challenge to John Dillinger, the "kill-crazy" jailbreaker.

Inside the jail was Harry Pierpont, henchman of the killer, who is on the way to the electric chair. He was found guilty in the early morning hours yesterday of the murder of former Sheriff Jess L. Barber during the bandit raid last October in which Dillinger was freed from the prison.

The Guardsmen were ready to answer any attempt Dillinger might make to free his former ally, Gen. Harold M. Bush, commander of the Guardsmen, said he had been warned the desperado might show up in Lima to try to snatch Pierpont from the law. With his machine guns under cover and placed so that they could sweep all entrances to the jail, Gen. Bush sent more than 50 telegrams to police between Lima and Chicago asking them to be on the alert for Dillinger and to advise headquarters here in the event he was seen. Dillinger has been at large for more than a week since his sensational escape from the Crown Point Ind. jail.

Gen. Bush said his men had found evidence that someone had been studying a Guardsman machine gun nest, but added "we think we're ready for anything."

He also said he had received reports that Mary Kinder, former companion of Pierpont, was on her way to Lima.

Polo Residence is Burned on Sabbath

A fire in Polo Sunday at 1 o'clock practically demolished the house owned by Mrs. Harry Bomberger on south Jackson street, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Johnson. The fire was discovered by Charles Bomberger, son of the owner.

The two-story frame residence valued at $4000 was partially covered by insurance. All the contents of value were saved.

Neurocalometer Service

It is vitally essential in the successful treatment of nervous diseases to be able to find the exact location of the nerve or nerves affected. The Neurocalometer is a very precise, delicate instrument created through research, for that purpose. Not only is it capable of locating the precise nerve involved, but also it is able to show when the trouble has been removed. The Neurocalometer examination is as vital to nerve conditions as is the X-ray to bone and deep tissue examinations. You owe it to yourself to have this test made.

Dixon Sharpshooters Defeat Rock Falls To Win Dist. Cage Championship

Triumphed in Final Game at Sterling by 21 to 19

By BRADLEY MOLL

Climaxing their season, the Dixon basketball squad took the District Tournament Saturday night, beating their runner-up, Rock Falls, by the very tight score of 21-19, a score which itself indicates what a game the capacity crowd really saw.

The Dixon team touched off their previous three victories and their spectacular defeat of Sterling by knocking off Rock Falls, having previously lost their two scheduled games to Rock Falls, by two and one points, respectively. The exciting final game was preceded by the consolation game between Amboy and Sterling, which turned into a riot, with Sterling closing their season with a final win 46-16. This defeat of Amboy, by the way, was poor solace for Sterling's previous night's loss to Dixon, but, disregarding this fact, Dixon was ably supported in their game by the Sterling fans, and which proved in a sense that Sterling can "go Dixon" or Dixon go Sterling.

The defeat of Rock Falls Saturday night gave Dixon their first tournament win and the first opportunity to go to a sectional tournament, which competition the Dixon athletic department had never had a chance to show up in. The winning of the tournament is a feat which should be given due credit. In a previous article, some time earlier in the season it was stated that the conference this year was a particularly strong one, and that the teams in their respective places. Now here is the information that will bring that pre-season statement out to better advantage. That statement might have been taken as an alibi by some people, as if Dixon was paying its way toward a good excuse, but now let some of the sideline coaches swallow this dope: In the conference, DeKalb was the victor, DeKalb must have had a good team, for they beat Waterman, and gave some good competition to Sycamore, and in addition won their tournament at DeKalb, thus giving them the privilege of going into one of the sectional tournaments. Belvidere was another very strong team, which had a tough time beating Dixon, doing so by the very narrow margin of two points. Belvidere went into their District tournament, and grabbed the title, giving them an opportunity to go to a sectional tournament. Rock Falls was a strong team in their conference. And some of the other teams were able to do some heavy pounding in their respective tournaments. Dixon met all of this competition, they beat some of them, should have beaten others, and were beaten by some. Dixon then went to its District tournament and won places, playing two very tough teams, and beating both of them.

Amboy vs Sterling
The first game started off with a bang, both teams playing a sort of game that would give them some insight on the strength of the opposing side. Amboy had started some of her second string players, but it did not take them long to see that they would need the first string and some more in addition. The game was hardly anything better than a one-sided affair, and it held very little of the fans attention. It was more or less of a disappointment to some of the fans who wanted to see a close battle. Amby made a few more free throws than they did when they played Rock Falls which did not give them the necessary points to come close to Sterling, who were hitting in great shape. The final going brought both teams to a standstill, Sterling having won the game by the large score of 46-16, giving them third place in the tournament.

Reconciliation of Doug and Mary is Thought Imminent
By ALBERT W. WILSON
Associated Press Foreign Staff.
Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press.

London, March 12—Douglas Fairbanks, Sr. and his wife, Mary Pickford, have practically patched up all their differences and are near a reconciliation. The Associated Press learned from indisputable sources today.

Fairbanks and Miss Pickford have talked over transatlantic telephone within the last few days with the result that their reunion on the old basis of married life is practically assured.

"It is just a matter of time now," The Associated Press informant said, "but reconciliation will require several months."

Fairbanks is planning to return to the United States in two or three months—as soon as he has finished a picture-making contract in Europe.

Hollywood's most famous couple may reunite as soon as he lands, but it seems more likely it will be two months after that before they are rejoined.

The couple would be reunited today if the divorce action of Lord Ashley against his wife—namely Fairbanks as correspondent—had not intervened, causing an unforeseen delay.

The authority for the fact that Fairbanks and his wife will soon be reunited said:

"It may surprise you to know that the Ashley incident, only caused strained relations for two days. The first fury quickly subsided and now the situation is even better than it was then."

"Doug and Mary always kept in touch with each other although there were long periods without communication."

While the terms of the settlement were not stated, Doug apparently has given up his plans that he and Mary should quit working. His work here is expected to satisfy her, but both will keep making movies.

ST. MARY'S LOCH

ENSHROUDING mists rolled down the hills.
They draped the heights in pearly greys,
And hid the many tinkling rills.
That babled down by stony ways.

Out shone the sun, glorious sun,
On springtime foliage many-hued,
The circling hills from cloudland won.
Stood round with amber light en-dued.

Unruffled by the fretting wave
Clear as a morning drop of dew
The Silent Loch, reflecting, gave

Regular Meeting of Womens Club Was of Interest Saturday
The Dixon Woman's Club members held their regular meeting last Saturday at the Christian church. An interesting business meeting was conducted by the club president.

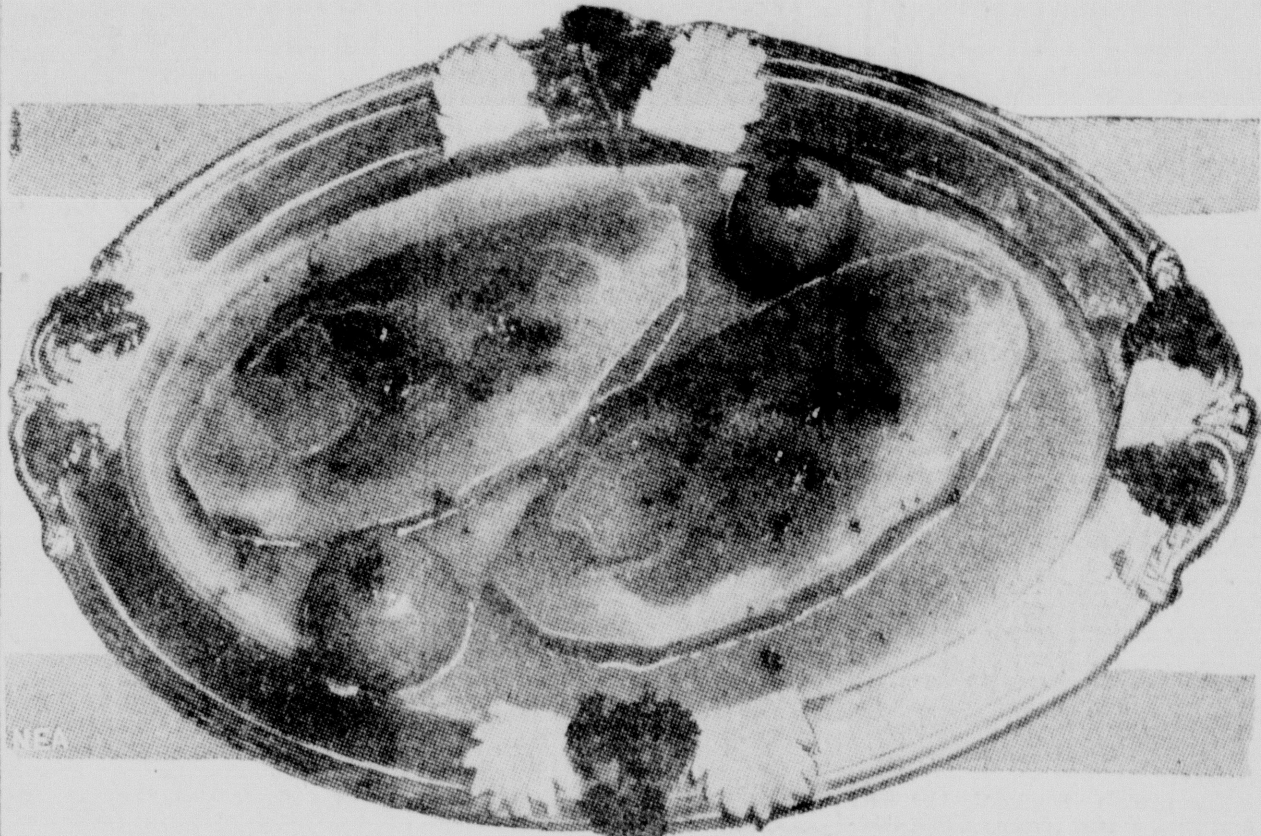

The program was in charge of the Literature department of the club. Mrs. J. P. Young introduced Mrs. Margaret Scrivens, who spoke to the club on the subject, "The Library and the Community."

Mrs. Scrivens spoke briefly of the history of the Dixon library and of its few gifts from public spirited donors. Going on to the functions of the library she spoke of the trouble of keeping the books intact, by the help available in the use of the library and of the splendid reference library in use.

In speaking on the subject of why one should read she said, "The chief thing obtained from reading is information. It also gives greater

HAM STEAK STEPS INTO SOCIETY

Traditional American Dish, Now on Swanky Menus, Is Luscious Served With Carrots, Tomatoes

(From Hotel Martinique, New York)

By NEA Service

Ham steak, cut from a wine-cured ham, is food fit for a gourmet. This typically American dish has stepped out of the something-to-serve-at-short-notice class and now appears on menus of our best hotels and restaurants. The hostess can prepare it with a minimum of effort.

There's something rather festive about ham steak. Perhaps it's because we think of it in connection with holiday feasts or because it looks so decorative on a white platter garnished with sprigs of parsley. Anyway, try serving it with tiny carrots and whole tomatoes and see what a hit it makes.

Here's the way ham steak is prepared at the Martinique: Cut steaks one-half inch thick from the center of the ham. Allow one to every two persons. Fry slowly in the ham's own grease and when done, remove from the skillet, add half a teaspoon each of sweet paprika and orange juice to the natural sauce in the pan.

Strain the sauce, keep it hot and pour over the ham steaks when they are ready to be taken to the table. Sprinkle with chopped parsley, put a few chopped tomatoes and several tiny boiled carrots around the steaks and serve the remainder of the vegetables in separate dishes.

Wedding of Interest Here and Amboy

A wedding of interest to Amboy and Dixon friends is carried in the following news item in the last Amboy News:

Word from Mr. and Mrs. John A. Theiss of Julesburg, Colorado, announcing the marriage of their youngest daughter, Helen Elizabeth, to Clarence L. Eversman of Ovid, Colorado, will enlist the ears of their many acquaintances.

John A. Theiss, son of the late George Theiss of Sublette, Illinois, and Mrs. Theiss, nee Grace A. Bedient were reared and resided in this vicinity for many years. Helen Elizabeth was born in Amboy and moved with her parents to Nebraska and thence to Colorado where the romance resulted in a wedding at Denver, Colorado, on Monday, March 11th.

The bride was attired in a gown of aqua marine blue with brown accessories and carried a bouquet of Joanna Hill roses.

Cheese Is Nourishing Meat Substitute

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Staff Writer

Cheese often is chosen as a meat substitute and if served with the proper combination of foods offers an excellent and comparatively cheap source of protein.

In planning menus in which cheese is to play a part as a meat substitute, keep in mind the necessity of serving plenty of vegetables, both raw and cooked. The dessert should be simple and not rich in fats. Apple or some other fruit topped with pudding served with a liquid sauce in place of cream offers a suggestion for a dessert. Of course there are innumerable other puddings, hot, cold and frozen that may be chosen.

When cheese is to be cooked, care must be taken that it is not over-cooked. Over-cooking of cheese makes it tough and splits the fat, making it difficult to digest. Cheese is sufficiently cooked when it is just melted. Consequently, when any part of a cheese dish requires prolonged cooking this should be done before the cheese is added. In the case of cheese sauce, be sure the sauce is thoroughly cooked before adding the cheese. Then the cheese is melted in the hot sauce and the whole is blended in a smooth mixture without actually cooking the cheese.

Cheese Flavors Soup

The following menu will undoubtedly suggest other combinations to you. Brown rice croquettes with cheese sauce, buttered green beans, lettuce and tomato salad, baked apple dumplings with lemon sauce, milk, coffee.

The Italian custom of serving grated cheese with soup has much in its favor. Potato, tomato and minestrone soups gain much nourishment if grated hard cheese is added when served or passed at the table for each person to help himself. The combination of flavors, cheese and these particular vegetables, is appetizing. Cheese must not be added to a soup during cooking.

There are many varieties of cheese both domestic and imported and for classification purposes they are conveniently divided into three groups—hard, semi-hard and soft.

The hard American cheese made from whole milk contains most of the protein and fat and a large part of the lime of the milk from which it is made. It's really a concentrated form of milk and has great food value. This type of cheese adds vitamins A and B to the diet.

Use of Cottage Cheese
Cottage cheese is high in nutritive value but low in fat and vitamins. Freshly soured milk is desirable for making cottage cheese. Cottage cheese as well as the soft, so-called cream cheeses, are excellent in salads or with fresh fruits. Carefully stewed dried fruits combine well with cream cheese for a salad. As sandwich fillings, combined with nuts or dried or preserved fruits, the soft cheese can be used to advantage.

Cheese Fondue
One and one-half cups soft bread crumbs, 2-3 cup milk, 1-2 cup grated cheese, 4 tablespoons butter, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1-8 teaspoon mustard, yolks 2 eggs, whites 2 eggs.

Cook crumbs and milk until hot and smooth, stirring constantly. Add butter, salt, pepper and mustard. Cook and stir until cheese is melted. Remove at once from heat and add yolks of eggs which have been beaten until thick and lemon colored. Fold in whites of eggs which have been beaten until stiff and dry. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. When firm to the touch the fondue is done. Serve at once. The temperature of the oven should be 350 degrees F.

Thursday Reading Circle Met Thursday
The Thursday Reading met on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lydia Parks and Mrs. Lee Read. A delightful musical program was furnished by Mrs. Read. The lesson for the afternoon was given by Mrs. George Smith. An interesting guessing contest was also enjoyed.

During the social hour delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Ambrose-Court-right Wedding Event of Today

A simple, yet beautiful wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride this morning at 9 o'clock, when Miss Dorothy Ambrose and Glen A. Courtwright were united in marriage by the Rev. A. D. Shaffer, pastor of the Grace Evangelical church in the presence of the immediate family. The simple ring ceremony was used.

The bride was attractive in her gown of wedgewood blue, with navy accessories. Miss Gladys Ambrose who attended her sister as maid of honor, wore navy blue and white. Both the bride and her attendant wore shoulder corsages of Briarcliff roses and sweet peas. Attending the bridegroom as best man was John T. Muhlik.

After the ceremony and congratulations a lovely three course breakfast was served at the Coffee House to the bridal party.

The bride, one of Dixon's most charming young girls is a graduate of the Dixon High School of the class of 1932. She is now a competent employee in the office of the State Highway Dept.

The bridegroom who has been manager of the National Tea Co. in Dixon for the past three years, is efficient young business man, and an ardent baseball enthusiast. He is also a graduate of Dixon High School of the class of 31.

After a short wedding trip spent with relatives in Cedar Rapids and Lisbon, Ia., Mr. and Mrs. Courtwright will be at home to their many friends at 309 Peoria Avenue.

Mrs. Whitson Hostess to Circle No. 1

The regular monthly meeting of Circle No. 1, of the Methodist ladies' Aid Society was held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. E. Whitson, 516 Highland avenue. Mrs. Clara Shawger, president, opened the meeting and Mrs. W. D. Bills conducted the devotions, her theme being an Easter story. Prayer was offered by Rev. Stanwell who was present during a portion of the afternoon. Following the business session a delightful program was given under the direction of Mrs. Martha A. duet, "The Old Rugged Cross" was sung by Mrs. Nate Morrill and Miss Ora Peto. Mrs. Myrtle George and Mr. Wells sang arias from the "Messiah", and were accompanied by Mrs. Grover Thomas sang "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth."

Mrs. Florence Plummer White gave a splendid talk on "Christian Citizenship," and Mrs. Pfund played a group of xylophone numbers. The entire program was greatly enjoyed by all present. The inclement weather hindered many from attending. However, forty-two ladies were present to participate in the meeting and enjoy the hospitality of the Whitson home. Dainty refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Entertained At St. Patrick's Party

The Friloha class of the Christian church Sunday school entertained the Young Men's Class with a St. Patrick's party on Thursday evening at the church. Games were played and prizes awarded to different groups who were the winners. Then a jolly time was enjoyed in the feature game of the evening a "scavenger hunt." Later tempting refreshments in green and white with favors indicating St. Patrick's day, were enjoyed as a conclusion to a very happy evening. The girls were voted royal entertainers.

PARISH SUPPER AT ELKS CLUB

The annual parish supper of St. Patrick's Catholic church, to which the general public will be welcome, will be held Saturday evening in the Elks club instead of at the Moose club rooms as was announced in the Telegraph Saturday evening.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALBERT G. WELLS

Director, Planned and Health Education
New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

Are Children Pawns?
Because she had a perfect attendance record at school, Helen received a special gift at promotion time. The local newspaper ran her picture.

There were other honors. It was said around town that it "puffed her up a bit."

At any rate, many a schoolmate resolved that next year, come what may, Helen would have serious competition. Medals, certificates, name and picture in the paper were "great stuff." Now Helen's mother was quite a normal person and mother, so she can't be blamed for a little neighborhood boasting, just enough to start every other mother in a "red hot" race with children as pawns.

It's a great American game, and how Americans like to win! No little obstacle as a cold, a sore throat, a toothache will turn them aside. It's win or bust. And whether that cold may lead to pneumonia or that sore throat is the first step in scarlet fever and other children may catch it, it matters not. Indeed, what price victory? One wonders if the "Golden Rule" is completely forgotten. Let's give the child a better chance.

Dr. Ireland will say more about "perfect attendance" next week.

Were Wed Saturday in Nachusa

Miss Florence E. Eisenberg of Lee Center and Roy G. Schnell of Dixon were married at noon Saturday, March 10, in Nachusa, at the Lutheran parsonage. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. Pscholz. Mr. and Mrs. Schnell will live on a farm near Lee Center. The good wishes of their many friends attend them.

Y. W. M. S. MEETS THIS EVENING WITH MISS GOOD

The Young Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will hold its monthly meeting this evening at the home of Miss Bernice Good, 1208 Peoria Avenue. Mrs. Vera Hughes will be the assisting hostess. The Misses Marian and Catherine Hahn will have charge of the lesson study.

All members are reminded to bring their letters to Miss Eykamp, and also their wheels of time if they have not done so. All young ladies are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

TRUTH SEEKERS CLASSES TO MEET TUESDAY

The Truth Seekers classes, sections 1 and 2 of the Bethel United Evangelical church will meet at the home of Mrs. Fred Hoffman, 816 College avenue on Tuesday evening. All members and friends of the class are urged to be present.

ANOMA MISSIONARY CIRCLE TO MEET

The Anoma Missionary Circle of the Baptist church will meet on Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Bon Sitter, 909 Galena Ave, with Mrs. Clyde Chronister as assisting hostess.

EMPLOYMENT REMAINS OUR MAJOR DUTY.

A lot of far-reaching consequences can grow out of an innocent-looking little declaration of policy. If you dig back far enough, you will find that most of today's turmoil about the proper functions of the NRA hinges on our new assumption that the national government has a direct and inescapable duty in regard to its unemployed citizens.

This assumption grew up during the depression. It's worth remembering that it is a comparatively new thing in American life. By the old tradition, the government was supposed to keep its hands off such matters. If industry couldn't employ the men it normally employed, there was nothing in particular that Washington was expected to do about it.

We found that that didn't work very well. The presence in the country of unemployment on a huge scale was too great a strain on the social fabric. So we became convinced that unemployment was a thing which the national government must take in hand, and this conviction found expression in the official pronouncements of the new administration.

That is what brought us to our present tangle in the NRA.

Industry, says the administration, must hire more men. It must do this by the process of shortening working hours, and it must raise wages at the same time, so that the men whose hours are cut will not suffer any decrease in income.

Industry replies that it cannot do anything of the kind and operate at a profit; and there is no reason to doubt that, in many, many cases, this is the exact truth.

What, then, is the alternative—bearing in mind the all-important fact that care for the unemployed has been accepted as a government duty?

The alternative, clearly, is for the government to go on making jobs for the jobless. If private industry can't do it, the government must. The enormously expensive CWA must be continued, even expanded. More millions must be pumped into public works.

And the money for this must come from taxes—which, in large part, must be collected from industry.

These are the choices that face us today. They present about as tough a problem as industry and government possibly could be asked to solve; and they arise, ultimately, because of our new belief that unemployment is a direct concern of the government.

AMERICA HAS NO NEED FOR ANY NEW "ISM."

Events of the last year certainly have given us an education in the uses to which letters of the alphabet can be put, what with the RFC, the RWA, the CCC, the CWA, the HOLC, and so on. But there is one group of three letters that has won more publicity than any of these, and that very profitably might be dropped now, for a while at least—the group ISM.

We have wasted enough energy, of late, arguing the pros and cons of capitalism, socialism, communism, fascism and heaven knows what other kind of ism, to bridge the Atlantic. It has got us, as far as anyone can see, precisely nowhere, and it's about time we turned to something else.

Prof. John J. Mahoney of Boston University hit the nail right on the head in an address the other day before the National Education Association in Cleveland.

"I want to insist," he said, "that the way toward a better social order is a road toward a better democracy. Democracy is peculiarly the American way of life, and has been ever since the beginning. We don't need to chase after any new isms. Let's improve what we already have."

What, after all, is a better social order? Isn't it, as Prof. Mahoney asserts, simply an order "in which the people possess an understanding of, and are actuated by, those motives which make for better living together and for better management of our democracy"? And isn't that a goal toward which we can all strive without bothering our heads about isms?

It is perfectly foolish to say that American democracy has failed. We have hardly, so far, made a whole-hearted attempt to make it work. To let the troubles of the last few years persuade us that we must find our salvation in some ism or other—in socialism, fascism, or what you please—is to take the lazy man's way out.

It is to hunt for some formula which will relieve us of the necessity of working and sweating and thinking our way out of the mess into which we got ourselves.

To work together to improve what we have, to find some way of working and living together which will be the best thing for the greatest number of people, and at the same time developing all this within the framework of our existing institutions—here is a cause worth all our brains and our energy.

If we try it wholeheartedly, and fail, then—and not before then—we can start worrying about the isms.

Business men are committing suicide in urging the impossibility of better hours and wages.—Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant.

I hardly thing that Ibsen was meant to go with basket-ball.—Eva La Gallienne, actress.

The little nymph clung to the line and shouted "Gee, but this is fine. Please swing your fish pole 'round and 'round. I'll hang on good and tight."

"I seldom get a ride like this. It's something that I'd hate to miss. As long as you don't jerk too hard, I know I'll be all right."

The nymph watched him for a while. Then Duncy shouted, with a smile, "Aw, pull that fellow in to shore. Then swing me in the air. I, too, can hang on safe and sound, while you are swinging me around." The fisherman replied, "Oh, no! I really wouldn't dare."

"You see, you are a heavy lad. If I swung you, 'twould be too bad. I know my pole would break and then you'd flop into the sea."

"Instead, I'll land the nymph right here. He'll fill you 'till you're full of cheer with stunts that he can do. He is as clever as can be."

Then, in the nymph came, on the fly. Wee Scouty grabbed, as he whizzed by, and caught the fellow by the foot. The nymph cried, "Good for you!"

"I'm glad to join this merry bunch, and now I have a happy hunch. I'm going to enter in you all with things that I can do."

"Have you seen fish dance on the sea? Of course not! Well, tot, just watch me. I have a magic flute right here that I am going to play."

"Big fish will swim up from the deep to dance, and perfect time they'll keep." "Oh, I would love to see them," Goldie shouted. "Hip, hooray!"

The nymph produced the flute and then a very strange thing happened when sweet music filled the air. Two great big fish jumped into sight.

The strange lad cried, "I told you so! The fish are swaying to and fro. It took me time to train them but I finally trained them right." (Copyright 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

(The water nymph does another stunt in the next story.)

PILLAR OF SALT

THE NEIGHBORHOOD LADY
The account we have of the world's first family is not very complete, so we don't know much about what Adam's flock did or said. But a few things we do know. We know that one of the first questions asked was, "Am I my brother's keeper?" And therein lies a tale.

Not very long ago, to move up to the present, a kind, old lady passed away. Hers was a pleasant passing, if death can be pleasant. During the illness preceding her death, and up to the end itself, she was surrounded by friends.

This Merchant Is Sadder, Much Wiser as Result

The next time an advertiser says that no one reads the ads in your paper, try this one on him, and he may become a believer, suggests the California Publisher.

"Bruce Brewer, vice president of the Perry-Hanly Advertising Company, is authority for the following test of the value of advertising made by a country merchant who thought no one read his ads."

"To convince him, the editor suggested writing an add with a lot of copy; in it, such as the merchant believed 'nobody read,' and somewhere, buried in the copy offer a dollar bill to every one who reads the ad and brings it to the store."

"If you do that, I will run the ad free, just to prove folks do read advertisements," the editor said.

"In spite of the warning of the editor that it would cost money the merchant accepted the challenge."

The add contained so many words that it had to be set in type even smaller than that of the regular reading matter but, buried away down in it was this offer: "To everyone who brings in this ad we will give a one dollar bill." That was all that was said about the dollar.

"The newspaper had not been out an hour before the store was full of people waving copies of the ad. The experiment cost that merchant nearly $500, but it proved to him, as nothing else ever had, that subscribers to the local weekly read it from end to end and everything in it."

friends who really loved her. And so she died in peace.

Every neighborhood has its "neighborhood lady." She is the one who cares for the sick and a death she is the one who speeds comfort to the bereft. When there is time in collecting money from the neighbors for flowers. When a mother is ill, the "neighborhood lady" sees to it that the family has baked goods and that the young child is sent off to school on time, or even that the older boy has an ironed shirt for the evening.

We all know a "neighborhood lady." She is a very common person. In fact, she is so very common that we often overlook her presence, or take her for granted.

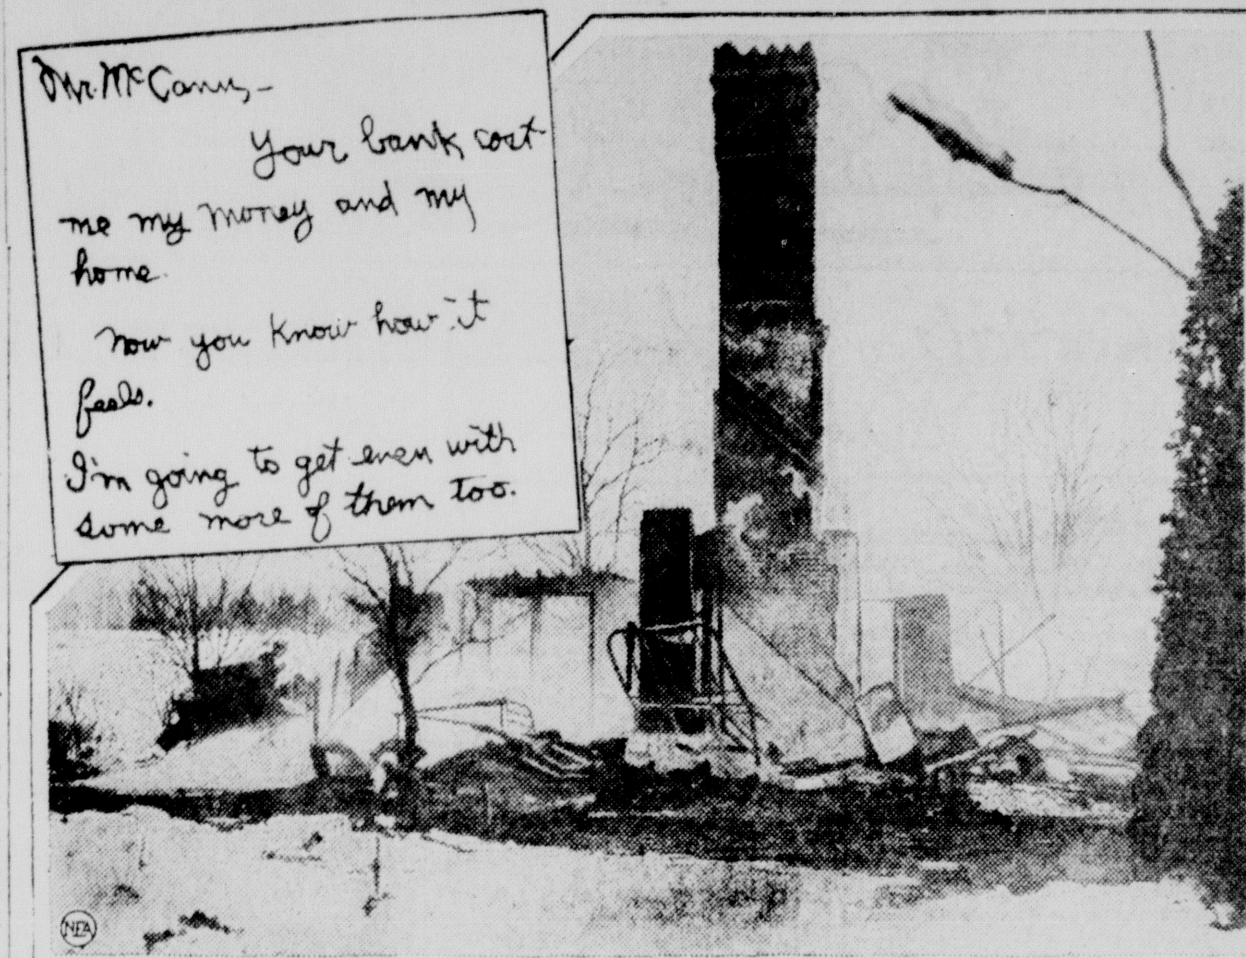

Deep within, most of us are children. We need someone to look after us. We blow about our greatness, but we aren't so great after all. Our legs are wobbly and need support. When someone furnishes that support, we strut arrogantly and forget that the firmness is only artificial.

"Am I my brother's keeper?" The neighborhood lady's answer is "Yes!" and the world is more pleasant because she lives.

No Mice, No Snakes

There are no mice in the northern reaches of Greenland, and that region rates with Ireland in the absence of snakes. Hares are about the only creatures that are really numerous in the land and it would be difficult to find wilder specimens than the Greenland variety, which is white the year around.

Banker's Home Burned; Revenge Note Found

Burned as an act of revenge by a depositor in the defunct Dayton, O., bank of which George B. McCann was a director, McCann's $50,000 home is shown here, a fire-ravaged ruin, near Dayton. Inset is a note left in a garage in the rear of the home by the arsonist, giving the reason for the deed and threatening further vengeance.

STATE IS READY TO DISTRIBUTE FEB. GAS TAXES

$654,667.33 Will be Divided Among the 102 Counties

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 10.—(AP)—The state is ready to hand out $654,667.33 to the 102 Illinois counties and soon will distribute an equal amount to cities and villages. That sum was announced today by Finance Director K. L. Ames, Jr., as the total February allotment of motor fuel tax funds.

The motor fuel tax produced $2,115,084.78 during February, Ames said. Deductions were made for administrative costs and a reserve for refunds, and the remainder divided three ways, equally between the state, counties and municipalities.

It is this money that would be diverted in part to school relief under proposals now before the third special legislative session.

Gas tax allotments to counties and municipalities are made on the same proportionate basis as was announced for January, when the new "1-1-1" law became effective. The monthly amount to be distributed varies, but the percentage received by each local government is unchanged for the year.

Southampton has been an important trading center for the interchange of British and foreign goods ever since the days of the Phoenicians and Ancient Greeks 1,300 years ago. Today 170,000,000 tons of shipping enter the docks annually.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ Scientist, on Sunday, March 11.

The Golden Text was, "Behold what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God" (1 John 3:1).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth! who hast set thy glory above the heavens. When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained; What is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visitest him? Thou makest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet" (Psalms 8:1, 3, 4, 6).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man, made in His likeness, possesses and reflects God's dominion over all the earth. Man and woman as coexistent and eternal with God forever reflect, in glorified quality, the infinite Father-Mother God" (p. 516).

Stop that laxative habit

Medicine-laxatives often churn about in the stomach for hours—just because they can't get by that pylorus valve.

Not only that, most medicine laxatives work by irritating the delicate membranes of the digestive tract—lose their force when taken regularly—compel you to keep increasing the dose.

That's why more than 50,000 physicians recommend Pluto Water. For Pluto is not a drug or medicine-laxative but a saline mineral water. The same amount each time—no need to increase it—always performs, does not gripe, gives positive results in less than one hour. It cannot give you the laxative habit!

Pluto Water is gentle—but speedy. It promptly opens the pylorus valve—permitting the flush to enter the intestines without anxious hours of waiting.

The proper dilution—one-fifth glass Pluto in four-fifths glass hot water—is practically tasteless. Take it whenever sluggish—get results within an hour—and end that laxative habit! In two sizes: Splits (8 ounces), 25c—large bottles (3 times the quantity), 50c. At all druggists.

"Let the other fellow drive without Hydraulic Brakes and a Safety-Steel Body"

WE HEARD THAT Mr. Friedman practically lives in his car... averaging 150 miles a day in his business. We went out to see him.

We asked if he "looked at All Three" before buying Plymouth.

"Looked at them?... Mister, I've helped build All Three! But just to make sure, I drove each of the low-priced cars 100 miles."

This owner says he demands two things in a car—comfort and safety!

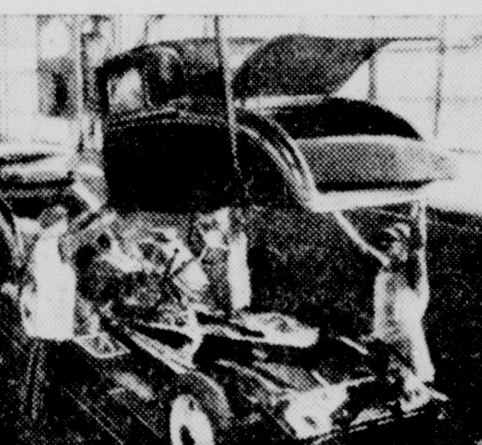

So Plymouth's Floating Power engine mountings and Individual Wheel Springing appealed to him. No more engine vibration... and no more bumpy rides to tire him out or injure the delicate radio apparatus he carries in his car.

And, of course, anybody who knows cars as he does is sold on Hydraulic Brakes and Safety-Steel Bodies. "I'll let the other fellow drive without them," he says, "but I'm taking no unnecessary chances."

There's not much we can add to Mr. Friedman's convincing story. But we urge you to do this—"Look at All Three before you buy." This year there's a surprising difference in low-priced cars. And you don't need to be a mechanic to see it!

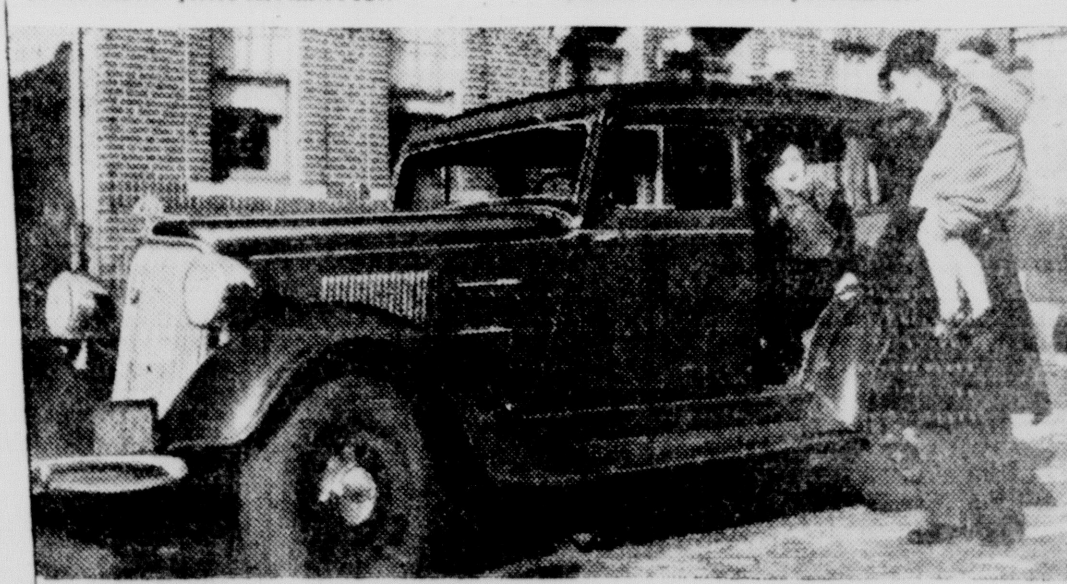

Any Dodge, DeSoto or Chrysler dealer will be glad to demonstrate Plymouth without obligation.

1. "I was born in the 'Motor City,' and I've worked in the shops of 'All Three.' You bet I know the low-priced cars inside out!"

2. "But just to make sure—I drove 'All Three' 100 miles each over tough roads. Believe me, Plymouth has 'em all beat on performance!"

3. Above—De Luxe Plymouth 4-door Sedan. Plymouth prices begin at $495 (c.o.b. factory, Detroit, subject to change without notice. Duplicate Safety-Plate Glass through-out for low extra charge (only $10 on De Luxe Sedan).

A. A. U. TOURNEY OF CAGERS IS ON IN KANSAS CITY

Nine Teams, None Favorites, Eliminated over Week-End

Kansas City, Mar. 12.—(AP)—Kansas City's counterpart of the 6-day bicycle race—the 8-day national basketball marathon of the Amateur Athletic Union—routed fans out of bed at 8 A. M. today for a program of 15 games running until midnight.

The games completed the first round of play for 55 teams from coast to coast seeking to divest the Tulsa (Okla.) Oilers of their national championship. The Oilers themselves are spotted against Sioux Falls, S. D. college, tonight.

Nine teams were eliminated in week end games. Favorites came through unscathed, among them the Southern Kansas State Liners, who recently succeeded the Tulsans as Missouri Valley A. A. U. champions.

Other games today pitted the University of Wyoming, Rocky Mountain College champions against the Belen, N. M. Merchants; Denver's Pigs against the Wood River, (Ill.) Shells; San Francisco's Olympic club against the Durant, (Okla.) Teachers and Ogden (Utah) against the Household Finance Corporation of Chicago.

THREE CHAMPS GET INTO ACTION DURING WEEK

None of Their Titles at Stake in Ring Engagements

New York, Mar. 12.—(AP)—Maxie Rosenbloom, Barney Ross and Vince Dundee, champions all, headline a full boxing schedule for the nation this week but their titles will not be at stake.

Rosenbloom, king of the lightweight division, will fight twice in non-title bouts, meeting Gordon Portenberry of Cocoa, Fla., at Orlando, Fla., tonight and Walker (Cyclone) Smith at Macao, Ga., on Friday.

Ross, Chicago holder of the lightweight diadem, who was held to a draw by Frankie Klick last week, battles Kid Morro of Manila in another, overnight affair at Oakland, Calif., Wednesday. Dundee, midweight champion, tackles Joe Kaminski, Nanticoke, Pa., 160-pounder, in a non-title match at Holyoke, Mass., tonight.

Perhaps the biggest attraction of the week from a competitive standpoint is the meeting at Los Angeles tomorrow night of Tony Canzoneri, former world's featherweight and lightweight titleholder, and Alberto (Baby) Arizmendi, Mexican flash.

Final Contests in Commercial League Tomorrow Evening

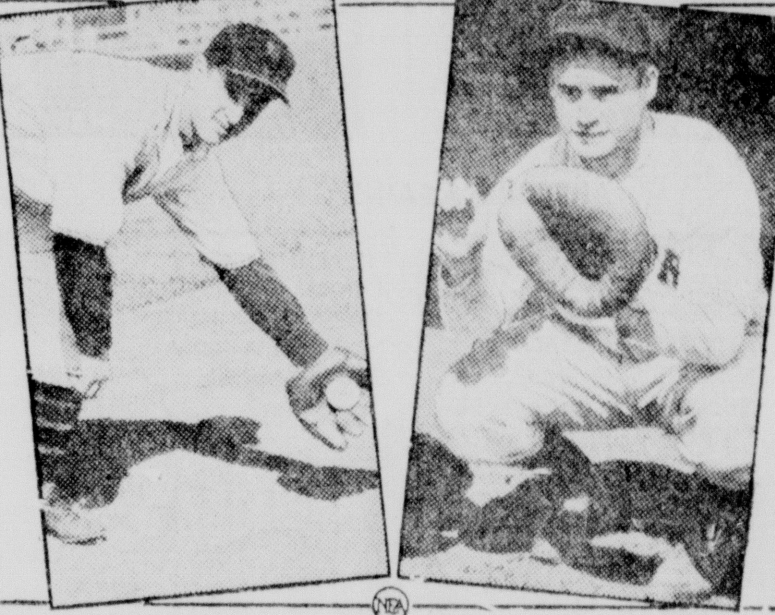

The double header basketball games to be played Tuesday evening at the high school gymnasium, will conclude the season's schedule of the Dixon Commercial League.

The Battery Shop five who are in second place, one game behind the league leading I. N. U. Co., team, will play the Millway Hatchery at 7:15. The second game will be between the first place I. N. U. Co. and Ashton. The latter team has been strengthened by the return to the lineup of Paul Vaupel and a bitter contest is assured the fans.

The I. N. U. Co., are sure of at least a tie for should they lose tomorrow evening and the Battery Shop win, both teams would be tied for first place, and a win over Ashton would make them undisputed champions. The officials for both games will be selected from the Beier Loafers team.

MICHIGAN WINS BIG TEN TRACK MEET SATURDAY

Displaces Indiana for the Conference Indoor Championship

By WM. WELKES
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Chicago, March 12.—(AP)—Most of the high class track talent in the Western Conference seems to be concentrated at Michigan and Indiana.

As Michigan dethroned the Hoosiers as indoor champions Saturday night in the University of Chicago fieldhouse, three outstanding individuals, Willis Ward, Michigan Negro star, and the Indiana middle distance pair, Charles Hornbostel and Ivan Fuqua, accounted for six first places out of ten events. Not only that, but Wolverines and Hoosiers won two other events, leaving the rest of the field only two victories.

Ward, one of the Big Ten's football stars, outlegged his opposition in the 60 yard dash and 70 yard high hurdles, and won the high jump.

Mile Was Easy
Hornbostel, running almost without competition, won the mile in 4:15.7, and one hour later came back and ran away from the half-mile field in 1:55.1.

Fuqua turned in the only record-breaking performance of the meet in winning the quarter mile in 49.4 seconds. His mark was six-tenths of a second faster than the old record set by Ed Russell of Michigan in 1932, and lacked only a tenth of a second of equalling the American indoor mark set by Alex Wilson of Notre Dame, in 1932.

Steve Dimech of Indiana got over the bar at 13 feet, 2 inches to win the pole vault, and Noel Aik of Michigan won the two mile in 9:32.9. Ward's time for the dash was 6.2 seconds, equalling the conference record. In the hurdles he did 8.8 seconds.

Other Winners
Bill Freimuth, Minnesota sophomore, and the Ohio State relay team of Merin Wiley, Cliff Smith, Bill Boer and George Arnold, won the other two events. Freimuth, educated in running, shot by Clarence Mann, holder of the Big Ten indoor record, won the event with an effort of 43.2 seconds.

Michigan scored 37 1-2 points to keep the Hoosiers from winning a third straight indoor title. Indiana had 33 1-5 points, and the result did not become certain until Ward won the high jump. He cleared the bar 6 feet, 2 7-8 inches, and tried for a new conference record of 6 feet, 5 7-8 inches. He made the record tonight, but was held a fourth and unofficial mark.

DIXON TO MEET HUNTLEY IN ITS FIRST SECTIONAL

Sharpshooters Are Sent to DeKalb Tourney; R. F. to Freeport

Chicago, Mar. 12.—(AP)—Championship teams from 62 districts, the runnerup, and four Chicago outfits, are waiting for Wednesday night, when the battle for places in the Illinois state high school basketball tournament will be continued in 16 sectional centers.

Instead of eight sectionals as in the past several years, the number has been increased to 16. To fill out the brackets and give followers of the game a better show, champions and the teams they defeated in the district finals Saturday night, will enter the second round of tournaments. The Chicago champion, Lane Tech, the runnerup, Tilden, and two other Chicago teams, Marshall and Englewood, bring the list of entrants up to 128.

The defending champion, Thornton of Harvey, which again won its district title by defeating Blue Island, 38 to 19, at Chicago Heights, will play in the Joliet sectional, with Tilden of Chicago as its first round opponent. Quincy, a downstate favorite which walloped Hamilton, 39 to 10, in its district final, meets Jacksonville, runnerup to Ashland in the Jacksonville district.

The sixteen sectionals and first round pairings:

ATHLETICS ARE HARD HITTERS IN EVERY POSITION

By NEA Service—
Frank "Shanty" Hogan had so much trouble with his weight when he caught for the Giants that he constantly was running into difficulties. The climax came when he went to get a tuxedo at the Hot Springs, Ark., camp for a dance.

The present Braves catcher walked into a clothing establishment and made known his wants. The clerk eyed him dubiously, and trotted out one suit after another. "Shanty" wrestled into them as the clerk held his breath for fear the seams would part. Finally Hogan found one that almost suited.

"Can you let this out a little?" he asked. After that gentleman had replied in the affirmative, the large one asked the price.

"That suit will be $37," the clerk informed him.

"What!" Hogan roared. "For one night?"

The clerk smiled in relief as he explained the store didn't rent tuxedos, and "Shanty" finally departed without running any garments.

NOTE: This is the first of a series of stories analyzing at first hand the prospects of major league baseball clubs.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
Fort Myers, Fla., Mar. 12.—(AP)—The impression that a flock of earnest young athletes named Joe are trying to plug the big gaps in the varsity lineup of the Athletics this year is rapidly being dissipated.

Clustered around the tall, spare and gray-haired figure of baseball's patriarch, Connie Mack, are a rangy, hard hitting group of players headed by the great Jimmie Foxx and a youthful pitching staff that includes some real possibilities despite a notable lack of big league experience.

For Mack it's another great adventure in reconstruction. The bulky figure of the home run king, Foxx, in camp today for the first time after ending his holdout siege, is the only other tall reminder of the last of the tall tutor's championship teams. Conspicuously absent for the first time in a decade are the broad-shouldered, aggressive Mickey Cochrane, now the pilot of the Detroit Tigers, and the pitching "Big Three," Walberg, Earnshaw and Grove.

To Miss Battery
"Grove and Cochrane are the men we will miss most," says Mack.

No Rookie Southpaw
For the first time in years, Mack will not even have a rookie southpaw, much less a seasoned portside, to carry on the traditions of Waddell, Plank, Grove and Walberg. So far as front line experience is concerned, he has only two real holdovers, Merritt (Sugar) Cain, the broad shouldered Georgian, and Roy Mahaffey. The best prospects otherwise for starting jobs include John Marcum, the pride of Eminence, Ky.; Bill Dietrich, recalled from Montreal; E. J. (Tim) McKeithan, a former collegian who has shown great promise; and Harry Matuzak from Oklahoma City.

Joe Caccarella from Jersey City also has caught Mack's eye. He will give thorough tests to young Al Benton and Vernon Kennedy, both from Oklahoma City. Bob Kline, who came from the Red Sox, broke an elbow ice skating this winter and is not yet available.

Lou Finney and the veteran Bing Miller are in reserve. Ray Radcliffe, obtained from St. Paul, may need more seasoning.

Foxx, the cornerstone of the club's attack, will have Bio Williams at second, Eric McNair at short and Pinky Higgins at third at his infield mates. Higgins, the last of the holdouts, has not yet reported and George Detore from Toledo, is filling the gap temporarily. Higgins led the league's third basemen last year and he is needed to round out one of the ablest and hardest hitting infields in either league. Booster Teams on Alleys at Peoria Peoria Ill., March 12.—(AP)—The 34th annual American bowling congress will be given over for the next four nights to Peoria booster squads but this coming week-end high scoring teams from all points in the mid-west arrive.

Joe Smolen of Cudahy, Wis., rolled 211, 239, 202, yesterday for a 643 which gave the Badger klegler first place in the individual event.

None of the five-man teams yesterday were able to displace the Kaggling-Goosen Furniture team of St. Louis, Mo., from first place. The Mound City outfit bowled 2,803 Saturday and the nearest approach on the Sabbath program was a 2,710 by the Pabst Blue Ribbons of Oak Park, Ill.

Father of Tommy Loughran Is Dead

Philadelphia, March 12.—(AP)—John Loughran, 62-year-old father of Tommy Loughran, dropped dead at the ringside while watching another son, Charles, train for a fight.

The senior Loughran, who died yesterday, had given Tommy his first boxing lessons when the former light heavyweight champion was a boy. A trolly molorman, the father took one of his few leaves from work last month to watch Tommy's attempt to wrest the world heavyweight title from Primo Camera in Miami, Fla.

QUEEN OF SHEBA DESCRIBED AS A FINE SALESWOMAN

Goods She Carried to King Solomon Were Trade Samples

London, March 12—(AP)—A picture of the Queen of Sheba as a traveling saleswoman de luxe was delineated today by Commander C. Crauford.

The Commander, learned in the lore of Arabia's desert wastes, gave the London Daily Mail an interview in which he also expressed the conviction that two French explorers are correct in believing they have found the Queen's ancient capital on the northern boundary of the Ruba-el-Khali desert.

He discussed the flight of the Frenchmen, Andre Malraux and Capt. Cornillon Molinier, and recalled his own experiences in South Arabia a few years ago.

Commander Crauford, who claimed to have discovered the "lost" land of Ophir, told the Mail that while he was there he studied secret Arabic histories about 800 years old which contained stories of Queen Balkis and her Capital, Balkis is the Mohammedan name for the Queen of Sheba.

Carried Samples
The histories suggested, he said, that the famous goods she carried to the great King Solomon were not gifts—but merely trade samples.

Ophir was famed for its rich gold mines. They are said to have been the source of most of Solomon's fabulous wealth.

The Queen was described in the histories, the Commander said, as tall, slender and beautiful and possessed of extremes of character. Her loveliness veiled fury. Although normally she displayed charm and wisdom, she could rage like a tigress.

Sometimes she was called the cloven-footed devil, Crauford recounted. This, he indicated, was possibly due to the fact that she was jamed in childhood when pygmies of Abyssinia kidnapped her and tied her to a tree as a sacrifice to the lion god. The lion, it was said, tore her foot.

So the bill for which there were sufficient votes recorded was called and declared passed. It was then moved that the same roll call be permitted to stand as the record for the O'Neill bills. This was done with the result that a group of legislators were recorded as voting for the O'Neill bills even though they were not present and had not asked that they be voted on the measures.

The result was "ghost voting."

A. L. Greening, State's Attorney of Sangamon County, thought "ghost voting" might constitute falsification of state records and obtained the grand jury investigation which begins tomorrow. He has subpoenaed Richey V. Graham, Cicero Democrat, who is president pro tem of the senate, and Senators James C. Mayor, LaHarpe Democrat, and Arnold Benson, Batavia Republican. A subpoena also issued for Senator Wilbur Hickman, Paris Democrat. It is expected that Senators Thomas P. Gunning, Princeton Republican, and Charles H. Thompson, Harrisburg Republican, will appear before the grand jury voluntarily.

During a heated senatorial debate in a special session subsequent to the "ghost voting" James O. Moore, Collinsville Democrat, charged that Gov. Thomas Donovan and A. E. Eden, State Secretary, were in danger of indictment as a result of the incident.

The Texas was the first American battleship; it was commissioned in 1886.

PROBE OF GHOST VOTING IN STATE SENATE TUESDAY

Sangamon Grand Jury to Investigate Alleged Practice

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 12—(AP)—Ghosts will stalk through the Sangamon county court house tomorrow.

Whether the shades will be laid depends on an investigation the grand jury is commencing into allegations that certain records of the state Senate were falsified during the closing days of the first special session.

The method employed in the alleged falsification is commonly known as "ghost voting."

It is a combination to two age-old legislative practices which find sanction in precedent if not in the constitution. Either by itself, is of almost daily occurrence in any legislative body.

It is seldom, however, that the two are combined so as to constitute "ghost voting."

Let Roll Calls Stand
One of the devices employed in "ghost voting" is to permit a roll call taken on one bill to stand as the record for others.

Roll calls require much time. After one has been taken on the key bill in a series it is customary for some legislator to move that the same roll call be recorded for the remaining bills in the series. If no one objects the record indicates the roll was taken on each bill and the same result was had. This is also done with a group of non-controversial but unrelated bills if there is no objection.

This parliamentary device permits House or Senate to make more rapid progress in the disposal of its business.

The other practice which enters into "ghost voting" is that of permitting a member to cast his vote in advance on a certain measure.

Often a legislator knows he will not be in the record when a bill in which he is interested is to be voted on. He then asks for unanimous permission to be recorded on the bill, which is seldom refused, and departs. When the roll is finally taken, the absent legislator is recorded as having voted as he desired.

There is seldom any objection to either one of these two practices when taken separately.

Different Color
In combination, however, they result in an entirely different state of affairs—a condition known as "ghost voting" which consists of voting an absent member on a bill on which he had not asked to be recorded.

The instance under investigation by the grand jury took place during the first special session. The Senate had a series of bills by Rep. Schaefer, O'Neill, Alton Democrat, under consideration which permitted municipalities to avail themselves of federal funds. They had been virtually forgotten in the rush of the closing days.

When they were reached on the calendar many of the Senators had departed and no votes had been left for them. A group of Senators had, however, left their votes for another measure entirely unrelated to the O'Neill bills.

So the bill for which there were sufficient votes recorded was called and declared passed. It was then moved that the same roll call be permitted to stand as the record for the O'Neill bills. This was done with the result that a group of legislators were recorded as voting for the O'Neill bills even though they were not present and had not asked that they be voted on the measures.

The result was "ghost voting."

A. L. Greening, State's Attorney of Sangamon County, thought "ghost voting" might constitute falsification of state records and obtained the grand jury investigation which begins tomorrow. He has subpoenaed Richey V. Graham, Cicero Democrat, who is president pro tem of the senate, and Senators James C. Mayor, LaHarpe Democrat, and Arnold Benson, Batavia Republican. A subpoena also issued for Senator Wilbur Hickman, Paris Democrat. It is expected that Senators Thomas P. Gunning, Princeton Republican, and Charles H. Thompson, Harrisburg Republican, will appear before the grand jury voluntarily.

During a heated senatorial debate in a special session subsequent to the "ghost voting" James O. Moore, Collinsville Democrat, charged that Gov. Thomas Donovan and A. E. Eden, State Secretary, were in danger of indictment as a result of the incident.

The Texas was the first American battleship; it was commissioned in 1886.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

PABLITO, a handsome 17-year-old youth, works at the pinball home of millionaire JIM FIELD.

When Field's daughter, ESTELLE, arrives he falls in love with her almost at sight.

Pablito knows nothing of his parents—a titled Englishman and a servant girl. As a child he ran away from ANGELA, the heartless old crane in whose care he was left. Since then he has lived with MORRIS NOYES, wanted by police for a murder years before.

TED JEFFRIES, a guest at the Field home, sees Noyes and recognizes him. Noyes flees to the swamp where he overhears a man and girl planning to rob the Field home during a masquerade party the following evening. Pablito gives Noyes money to go to Havana and promises to meet him there later.

Pablito, disguised as a forerunner, goes to the masquerade in order to talk to Estelle.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER X

PABLITO found Estelle a little withdrawn from the crowd. No one seemed to notice the slender child swathed in green tulle. She was royally excited by a mask and she wavered, a fledgling, while sure-footed seduction moved easily and surely; jewels twinkled on low-bared breasts, invitations in languid-lidded eyes.

There was a pathetically uncertain smile about her still plastic lips and there was a little ache in her stiffening cheeks which had grown of forcing the smile.

"May I sit with you?" Pablito asked. It was what he had planned to say but he had not planned that his voice should shake as it did.

"If you care to," she answered and he dropped to the rug beside her. She smiled naturally now and suddenly she flushed. She had recognized Pablito because of the blueness of his eyes. She thought, her heart warming, that in all her dreams of the party she had not dared hope this dream could come true!

She wanted to say, "I'm so glad you came!" but she stifled the impulse. Perhaps he might not want her to appear to recognize him, knowing that he must have come unbidden and by a circuitous route.

"It's a lovely night for the party. Isn't it?" she asked.

"I suppose so, but if it were pouring I wouldn't know it now."

"Oh!" She did like him so much and he said such pleasant things! "I've thought of this and thought of it," he confessed, his voice intense.

"Have you really?"

"Last night I couldn't sleep for thinking about it," she heard next. It was a curious feeling that she was experiencing. She was happy and yet she wanted to weep a little in April fashion and to lay her hand on his. She wondered whether that was a dreadful wish and knew she could not help it even if it were. She did want to lay her hand on his.

"You don't need those pipes," he said next. "Anywhere you are there is music."

"You say—very kind things."

HE shook his head quickly, vehemently, without answer. Then, drawing a deep breath, he looked down at the small pipes which she held. Something that grew of her new emotions made her speak quickly. "I—I like your dagger," she said.

He drew it from the wide red sash as he answered, "It's real so don't touch the blade—" She took it from him and turned it over.

Suddenly she leaned toward him and he felt her hand on his.

"It's quiet at the lower end of the beach," Pablito went on, "and we could see the stars there. I like them better than torches."

"Oh—so do I!"

She rose and he was by her in an instant, towering above her and looking down at her. She gave him the dagger. He slipped it under the broad sash which revealed the hard slenderness that had been made by muscle-testing work out of doors. Then, almost in silence, they made their way to the deserted beach where torches did not mute the stars.

Now and again he touched her arm to help her over a bit of driftwood or a ridge of wind-blown sand. He felt himself trembling as he touched her and knew how he loved her. And he knew too that he loved her so much that he would always think of her needs before he thought of his own, no matter how urgent his own, and that this was the way of true love.

They settled on a bench sheltered by the twisting, tree-like sea grape vine and, looking at the stars, Pablito found himself telling her of the Malayan legend which says that the moon, when she comes out with her many star children, drives the childless sun, in her great shame, into hiding far to the other side of the world. He thought she would like the legend and she did like it. Presently, speaking a little less shyly, he was telling her the Greek's idea that the stars in their moving made music that the gods alone could hear. "I like to think of that," he said, "and somehow I don't believe it's so far off. Almost every man, I guess, has a song that is his alone and that some one he cares for puts into his heart."

"Can't we be friends?" she asked.

He caught his breath. "How, Miss Estelle?" he asked in turn when he could speak.

"But—why couldn't we be?"

"We belong to different worlds," he said slowly. "You see you are a princess and I am a servant."

"I don't think that should make any difference," she said with a bit of youthful severity. "You don't really think it matters, do you?"

"I'm afraid I do."

"Why?" she asked with a shade of disappointment.

"Well, because nowadays a prince who comes calling on a princess must be mounted on a fine automobile. You can't rescue a princess from a tower if you're astride a plover. People would hear you coming and bar the gates!"

He drew a deep breath, then lifted her clasped hands from her knees to kiss first one and then the other. She shrank a little because she loved it so. He whispered, brows drawn close to feeling, "You needn't be afraid of me—over—in any way. Will you remember that, too?"

"Yes," she whispered again, and thought, "I wish he would kiss me." She did not care whether the thought were wicked or not; she wished he would kiss her!

(To Be Continued)

She smiled, liking his manner of speech, but frowned an instant later because she did not like the meaning of it.

"That is foolish," she said.

"I wish it were. Things would be so much simpler. You see, as it is, I have to acquire the proper armor—dinner clothes—somehow and a lance—I mean a check book. And I have to learn the password which is knowing the 'right people. There's so much I haven't that I need!"

"You are very clever," Estelle said. "Who taught you about all those things?"

"I can't tell you," he answered, a little waver creeping into his voice. For a moment she was chilled, failing to see loyalty in the wall between them. "But I'm not clever," he added.

"I wish I could see your face," she said.

"I see yours in the dark or light and I see it most of the time."

SHE was vaguely depressed by the sweetness that made so thick and overwhelming an aura around her and by the transiency of such sweetness, which she knew because on the morrow the mews would begin to pack for the fight north.

"Are you going north?" she asked.

"No." He sat looking down at her steadily and worshipfully. In a few short hours miles would lie between them. Suddenly she leaned toward him and he felt her hand on his. He turned quickly to grip her fingers and remembered the fact that her hand was small and soft and that he must not hurt her.

"We must be friends," she said not quite steadily. "I do so want you to be friends."

For a moment he pressed her hand against his breast where the hard pounding of his heart would speak for him. Then abruptly he released it to sit away from her, his strong teeth set on his lower lip, frowning from his effort to recapture a little steadiness.

"The fine automobile part doesn't matter," she whispered.

"Oh, but it does!" he contradicted, his voice almost harsh. "I have lived one life and looked on at another and it has taught me a lot I would have missed if I had been walled inside the one or the other. But I'm going to work for the right to come back and pound on the front gate. I'm going to work for nothing else but that. Will you remember that?" He had to stop to get his breath. "Will you remember," he went on, "that I am coming back and that I shall never forget it and that I'll live on my dreams about it?"

"Yes—" he heard her whisper.

He drew a deep breath, then lifted her clasped hands from her knees to kiss first one and then the other. She shrank a little because she loved it so. He whispered, brows drawn close to feeling, "You needn't be afraid of me—over—in any way. Will you remember that, too?"

"Yes," she whispered again, and thought, "I wish he would kiss me." She did not care whether the thought were wicked or not; she wished he would kiss her!

'CRUDE POLITICS' SAYS MELLON ON THREAT OF SUIT

Former Treasury Head Talks Back to Dept. of Justice Today

Washington, March 12—(AP)—The Justice Department, cracking the income tax whip over the heads of Andrew W. Mellon, former Mayor of New York, and Thomas E. Morgan & Co., and Thomas Sidlo of Cleveland, O., pushed preparation of a score more suits today.

More than 40 tax experts are engaged in the special task of preparing the suits, similar to those lambasting Mellon and the others. Among the material at hand for their study is a ream of testimony taken in the Senate Banking committee's investigation of stock market and financial practices.

The 78-year-old Mellon, member of three Republican cabinets, barked back yesterday at the Justice Department with a charge that the Department was playing "crude" politics.

Called Reporters
He called newspapermen to his apartment here last night during a break in his journey from Pittsburgh to Aiken, S. C.

"Please don't add any frills" was all he said as he handed them a lengthy statement.

Declaring in the first sentence that he felt the effort to secure an indictment against him was "politics of the crudest sort," he reviewed his entire side of the case.

He charged the use of "innuendoes" by the Justice Department and the employment by some one unnamed in a "character-wrecking" campaign against him. Instead of evading income tax payments, he asserted, he had always given the government the benefit of every doubt.

"Unfair, Arbitrary"
Mellon's charge of "unfair and arbitrary" was applied to the manner in which the Justice Department had handled his case. He said he felt that he, like any other citizen, should be given proper notice in the manner provided by law.

He said no charges of tax evasion had ever been made against him by the Treasury.

Mellon also struck back at what he called "irrelevant references" to the Aluminum Company of America as a "Mellon controlled corporation" which is a "one hundred per cent monopoly in the producing field."

"What this has to do with my income tax is not apparent," said Mellon, adding that he and all the members of his family owned less than a majority of the corporation's stock.

FIRST OGLE CO. MEN'S CLUB WAS FORMED IN 1829

Development of Clubs Is Traced Before Pine Rock Women's Club

BY E. TILTON

Ashton—Mrs. Otto Moore will be hostess to the Ashton Woman's club at the meeting scheduled for March 16. The garden committee is in charge of the program with Mrs. Orpha Knapp and Mrs. Helen Attig in charge of that committee. Each member is requested to bring a garden picture.

Orno Kersten who recently submitted to an operation at the Lincoln hospital is reported as making greater improvement now than at first.

Mrs. Laura Peacock and son Frank were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schmidt at dinner on Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Chadwick of Chicago will be a guest of her mother, Mrs. W. A. Hunt, during the coming week.

Rev. C. D. Wilson attended the jubilee program given by the M. E. church of Woodstock on Friday evening. The Rev. Wilson served this pastorate for four years.

The Rev. Parke O. Bailey is pleased with the purchase of 123 new singing books for Sunday school.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Hodges are the parents of a small daughter born on Sunday.

Miss Thelma Beaman left this week to complete her training at the Cook county hospital.

Mrs. Inez Hogan attended a meeting of the Ogle County Women's Clubs at Byron on Wednesday.

Mrs. Eva Beaman was hostess to the Pine Rock Woman's Club on Friday with Mrs. Faye Coffman the speaker. Mrs. Coffman, Ogle county president, gave a talk upon federation, tracing the development of club work among women from the early days of primitive life through to the agricultural development to the organization of the first woman's club in Jacksonville in 1833 at Jacksonville, Ill. The first men's club of this community was organized in 1829 and in the development of the life of men and women, it was clearly shown that the development of the life of men and women has been simultaneous with that of the progress of women closely following that for men.

The club life received its greatest stimulus with the Civil War when women, as now, were forced into the commercial world to provide for their dependents. These women organized with interests almost identical with those of their employers, as opposed to the women of wealth whose leisure is devoted to pleasure pursuits. Between these extremes is the woman of the type not pressed to support her family, yet with limited leisure which she devotes to improvement.

The first federated clubs were organized in 1889 with the Sorosis club of New York leading and 17 states and 63 clubs joining. Maine, Utah and Iowa being the first to federate. Child welfare, then, as now, was of great importance to clubs. Work started with these first federated clubs, seems to have made the first nation-wide accomplishment with the abolishment of child labor of today.

The program was under the direction of Mrs. Mary Daley, whose daughter, Mrs. Ruth Prindle, played a group of piano solos, and Darrel and Bruce Prindle played a mandolin and guitar selection singing two numbers.

Mrs. C. R. Stroh, member of the club, will be hostess to the club at her home in Stillman Valley on March 28. This is a change in the date from March 23 and will be a reciprocity meeting and it is hoped that many of the club members will attend.

Mrs. Coffman announced the spring conference of Ogle county club at Kishwaukee club on April 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Griffith of Evanston are the parents of a small daughter born Wednesday of this week. Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Griffith, her grandparents, are now in Evanston making the acquaintance of the wee miss who is a great-granddaughter of Mrs. W. A. Hunt of Ashton. No better good wish could be made the young lady than that she be as fine and lovely as her great grandmother.

New Eva meeting on Thursday at the Presbyterian church was well attended with the appearance of the Rev. Harvey Currens of Dixon, returned missionary from Liberia, giving a most interesting talk.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Eshbaugh, bride and groom, were victims of a chafariv, followed by a miscellaneous shower on Saturday evening at the home of the bride, Supervisor and Mrs. J. C. Benis.

Miss Vera Cain announced the honor roll of the Antioch school awarded to Arlene Schmidt and Katherine Gocken. Arlene, also, had a perfect attendance record.

Willing Workers of the Evangelical church enjoyed a delightful 6:30 dinner Friday evening with a most interesting program following the dinner.

Many from the local Evangelical church attended the Evangelical Christian Education Conference scheduled for Thursday afternoon with addresses by the Rev. C. J. Krell and the Rev. E. W. Preatorius.

The Brundage sale at Grand Detour last Wednesday drew many from the locality. Reports estimate that some 3,000 attended the sale.

Mrs. S. W. Wrenn of Los Angeles writes that Mrs. Sheffield of Grand Detour has been her guest, and that her mother, Mrs. Loretta Yates, a former Dixon resident, will soon return to her home in Rochelle.

Mrs. Henry Year and daughter, Miss Ardyea consulted with a Bloomington surgeon last week.

Leslie Sanders has been ill and unable to attend school the past week.

Miss Odessa Stephan has returned to her duties at Freeport hospital, following a convalescence from a gottle operation spent at the home of her parents.

OVER 500 SCOUT LEADERS TO MEET HERE MARCH 18th

Will Attend University of Scouting at Dixon High School

Friends of boy scouting and kindred activities, cubbing and sea scouting, are interested in the opening of the university of scouting to be held in the high school building here Sunday, March 18 from 9 A. M. to 9:30 P. M. Application blanks and descriptive literature have been sent out to all scout officials, committees, scout cub masters and sea scout skippers. These give detailed information.

There is an extended organization of teachers and leaders who will be on the faculty of this Black Hawk council area university. Although unusual to have such a meeting on Sunday, it is stated by George C. Dreisbach, council area executive, the various ministers were questioned in regard to it and they gave approval considering the nature of the university.

Walter M. Kiplinger of Chicago, seventh regional director, will be a teacher. S. C. Reeves of St. Louis, credited with being the best authority in America on cubbing will be another. In the first aid activities Dr. H. C. Gentles, chief surgeon, American Red Cross, will have a staff of uniformed men assisting him. An advanced course in the college of scoutmasters will be taught by Urner Goodman, director of education, New York City. He will be assisted by college professors. Gerald Shipman, director of sea scouting, Chicago, the largest sea scouting department in the world, with a staff from Chicago, will have charge of the sea scouting division of the university.

Elements of scoutmastership will be taught by Herman Brandmiller, field executive of the Black Hawk council area. He will be assisted by Robert Ellis, Howard Swarts and others in the sea scout course. James E. Blue, principal of Rockford Junior high school, chairman of the leadership and training committee, will be in charge of the university. A. H. Lancaster, superintendent of the Dixon high school, will be dean of the university assisted by Adelbert V. Newman, field Scout executive.

It is expected there will be over 500 in attendance at the Boy Scout university. A registration fee of 50 cents accompanies the application to enlist. Certificates will be issued to all who attend. Credits will be given on the "Requirements for Key. John G. Ralston of Dixon, president of the committee of the Black Hawk Council area, has sent out letters to 450 ministers and 61 priests with prospectus acquainting them with the object and radius of the university. A total of 1,343 registered Scouters have been addressed in the letters.

The morale officer of the university will be Roe Bartles, a Scout executive from Kansas City, Mo. He is said to be a cordial, jovial, yet perfect disciplinarian.

Registration cards have already been coming in generously.

Living Our Everyday Lives

IS LIFE WORTH WHILE?

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

Yes, life is worth while if we make it so. Just to exist, just to pass the time and wear out shoe-leather, is tedious and dull. But living is thrilling, if we put ourselves into it.

Some lives are not worth living. A sinful life, a selfish life, a sordid life is not worth the time it takes to live it. Of Judas it was said, "It had been good if he had never been born."

Our life may be richly worth while even if we do not think so. A dark, dingy temperament can make a man live in a dim, dun-colored world, under a sky as gray as a tired face. Yet such a man may be faithful and useful, and no one knows the worth of his own life to others.

What is it that makes life worth while? To put it briefly, a faith fit to live by, a self fit to live with, and a work fit to live for. Or to say it in four words which sum it up, contribution, co-operation, concentration, and consecration. Is not that the essence of it?

We get out of life as much as we put into it, measure for measure. If we are stingy with our love, labor and trust, life goes stale. If we fancy that life was meant to minister to our curiosity or vanity, it falls flat. Put plainly, we have to invest ourselves to get returns.

To do that we must learn teamwork, lend a hand, help lift the load, or life itself becomes a burden or a bore. If we get fed up with life, it is because we try to eat our cake and have it too. By doing things in fellowship we learn to gather the truth none can know alone.

It is no good to live at random; we must have an aim, a goal, a target to hit. As St. Paul said, "This one thing I do, forgetting the past I press forward toward the mark of the prize." A saint is a soul so condensed that it becomes a power. He drives, he does not dawdle or drift. It is one thing to give up, another thing to surrender. The highest joy of life is to be dedicated to a work or a cause worthy of life. It gives us unity, direction, devotion, and these make life really worth while.

If, as Socrates said, "the true end of life is to know the life that never ends," it is by making life worth living here that we know it.

"DON'T LET ANYBODY TELL YOU THAT RUNNING AN OFFICE DOESN'T TAKE HEALTHY NERVES, TOO, MR. JAFFEE"

Irving Jaffee, Olympic Speed Skating Champion, says:

"It takes healthy nerves and plenty of wind to be an Olympic skating champion. I find that Camels, because of their costlier tobaccos, are mild and likable in taste. And, what is even more important to a champion athlete, they never upset the nerves."

John W. Grout, Office Manager, who hails from Detroit, Mich., says:

"An Olympic champion speed skater needs healthy nerves—but a man can't handle a tough office job without healthy nerves, either. Many hours of nagging details and the pressure of work all tell on the nerves. I smoke Camels all day long...and I never have to think of nerves. Camels have the finest flavor, too."

How Are YOUR Nerves?

Sooner or later today most of us come face to face with jangled nerves.

If nerves are a problem with you, now is the time to check up on all habits that may affect them—your eating, your sleeping, your recreation. And get a fresh slant on your smoking by trying Camels. Much is heard about tobacco quality, so always remember this:

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS than any other popular brand.

Note the way "edgy" nerves become a thing of the past. You can smoke more than ever, without a sign of "cigarette" aftertaste. You'll be delighted to find that Camel's costlier tobaccos do make a difference—to your taste, and to your nerves!
